Liver Pathology Workshop

In association with the UKLPG

24th April 2017

This slide-based practical workshop is devised for consultants working outside specialist liver centres, and trainees in stage C or D who have an interest in liver pathology. It is designed to complement the annual course; Liver biopsy in the assessment of medical liver disease organised by the RCPath (next: March 17th 2017, book via RCPath website). It also works as a stand-alone course. It will include practical aspects of the interpretation of medical liver biopsies and will also cover a range of focal liver lesions.

The slides will be pre-scanned and participants will have the opportunity to look at the digital images on line prior to the meeting. Sets of glass slides will be available for viewing on the day.

Learning Outcomes:

At the end of the session individuals should:

- Have pre-viewed a range of liver cases, as glass slides or as virtual slides pre-meeting
- Be confident in recognising common patterns of medical liver disease in liver biopsies
- Understand the role of different special stains in medical liver biopsies
- Have gained an understanding of the pathological assessment of focal liver lesions

The UK Liver Pathology group was founded in 2016 to promote excellence in liver histopathology services in the UK and Ireland, across all levels of specialisation, through professional collaboration in education, quality assurance and research.
